

PROJECT 4

Goal

Children study how public transportation helps people travel to different places in their community.

What

Children study the types of public transportation around their community and the world. Children also build a “life-sized” cardboard bus to integrate what they have learned into their dramatic play.

Why

Transportation is a part of our daily lives, and vehicles often capture children’s interest.

